DEAR HRA COMMUNITY

The COVID-19 pandemic has brought all of us varying degrees of worry, doubt and physical and mental fatigue. For far too many, it has brought very real sorrow. Through all that turbulent time, the HRA community came together like no other. While new cases still flare up in many places on the globe, we at HRA are looking forward to fully resuming all activities and interactions that make the HRA experience as meaningful and rewarding as it always has been. Planning for multiple contingencies, commitment and devotion allowed us to remain open, operating and healthy.

The experience of the pandemic has brought home to us just how fortunate we are. HRA at its best over the years has been forward looking. We have been guided by supportive trustees, planning strategically while welcoming innovation and improvement as an integral part of the annual school cycle. We have been privileged to have teachers, staff and administrators who have never accepted the status quo. Our program is, as always, the launching pad for exploring more relevant, more effective ways of teaching and learning. These factors contributed greatly to our ability to deal with the challenges that COVID-19 brought to us, testing our institutional strength, our creativity and adaptability. It has made us a better school.

We are excited about what the future holds for us as we build upon the lessons we have learned through adversity. To a certain extent, it is a part of human nature to question change. I believe that, if the experience of the last year has a silver lining, it is that it has allowed us to form a new, more proactive, more open mindset that encourages and rewards us to dream bigger, to explore more boldly and to be fearless in pursuing excellence in all that we do. I am confident that our best days are ahead. It has never been a greater time to be a Navigator.

Sincerely,

Peter W. Mertz
Head of School

Eighth Grade Crossing

Article by Lisa Thatcher, Head of Middle School

On May 27, the Class of 2025 enjoyed what is quickly becoming a much anticipated event for our eighth grade class, the Crossing Parade. Each spring we celebrate this special event in the lives of our eighth graders. We recognize and celebrate their middle school growth and accomplishments as they cross over to the upper school. COVID restrictions kept us from gathering in the auditorium so the celebration took place in the HRA parking lot! Parents and students decked out their vehicles with balloons, streamers, banners and signs and drove under the balloon arch while faculty members lined the sidewalk raucously cheering, waving pom poms and clanging cowbells.

Middle school is a special place and pivotal time in the lives of our students. We are so proud of our eighth graders as they move to upper school. We know they carry with them fond memories of their years in the middle school as they embark on their upper school journey. Godspeed, Class of 2025!

Fourth Grade Parade

Article by Susanne D. Swain '78, Head of Lower School

On May 27th, the Lower School celebrated the Class of 2029's move to HRA's Middle School. The 4th graders have successfully completed their elementary experience at HRA and are ready for the challenges ahead.

Due to COVID restrictions, the community was not able to gather in the Lassen Auditorium for our traditional, formal ceremony. Instead, students and their parents participated in a car parade in the HRA parking lot. Navigator spirit was on full display during the parade! Parents, students, and cars were beautifully decorated with plenty of banners, balloons, and celebratory messages. With heads poking out of cars' windows and sunroofs, the students received their 4th grade certificates and gift bags containing a few treats. As the stream of cars passed under the large balloon arch, the LS faculty cheered and waved to each child. The students and teachers have shared many special experiences – classwork, story time, field trips, Gingerbread House Days, Field Days, performances, assemblies - during their LS years. The LS teachers are extremely proud of their students' growth both academically and socially and are confident that this group will be successful in the coming years.

Thanks to the 4th grade parents for supporting the parade in what has certainly been an unusual year. Based on the smiles on the children's faces, the evening was a success!

Ten seniors Inducted into the Hampton Roads Academy Cum Laude Society

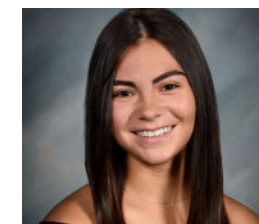

The Cum Laude Society honors superior academic achievement at select, mostly independent, schools; HRA is one of only 16 schools in Virginia to have been awarded a Cum Laude charter. Each chapter may elect not more than 20% of the graduating class who have demonstrated academic excellence in the college curriculum, choosing up to 10% at the end of Junior Year and the remainder in spring of the Senior Year. As the Society Motto stresses excellence, justice, and honor in the broadest sense, only students who have demonstrated good character, honor, and integrity in all aspects of their school life are elected to membership.

Learning Beyond the Classroom: The HRA Difference

Article by Benjamin Rous, Head of Upper School and Director of College Counseling

HRA's REACH (Real-World Experience and Academic Choice) initiative graduated its second cohort Saturday, May 29th. Recognized as having completed the certification were graduates Jack Baust (Performing Arts and Humanities), Addison-Parker Davis (Global Studies), Alexandra Gendreau (Health Sciences), Elizabeth Hager (Global Studies), Graham Hooker (Environmental Studies and Outdoor Leadership), Huang Gailiang (Applied Science and Technology), Lauren Kitay (Visual Arts and Humanities), Josh Kostiner (Global Studies), Sohee Lim (Global Studies), Finn Philipsen (Environmental Studies and Outdoor Leadership), Ava Tankkersley (Health Sciences), and Grace Vander Venet (Performing Arts and Humanities).

This year's cohort of CNU Research Fellows meet with their project mentors. Fellows this summer are: Aanya Khayat '23, Aarman Khayat '23, Vivian Crooks '21, Catherine Chang '23, Rudrani Ghosal '23, and Silin Yi '21.

HRA students Aarman ('23) and Aanya ('23) Khayat are research assistants this summer to Old Dominion University chemistry professor Dr. Silvina Pagola for her National Science Foundation-funded project "In Situ chemical kinetics and mechanisms of mechanochemical organic cocrystallization".

Visual Arts

Over the past school year, visual art students created works that reflect creativity in their application of new techniques and materials depicting a range of topics. Students and teachers were challenged to expand what they have done in the past and find new approaches that could be completed in the studios as well as at home.

Lower School students engaged in individual hands-on art projects exploring various artistic mediums while learning about artists throughout history. They developed their own sense of creative expression in the classroom. Students ended the year creating collaborative grade-level canvases based on literature from areas that the students studied throughout the year.

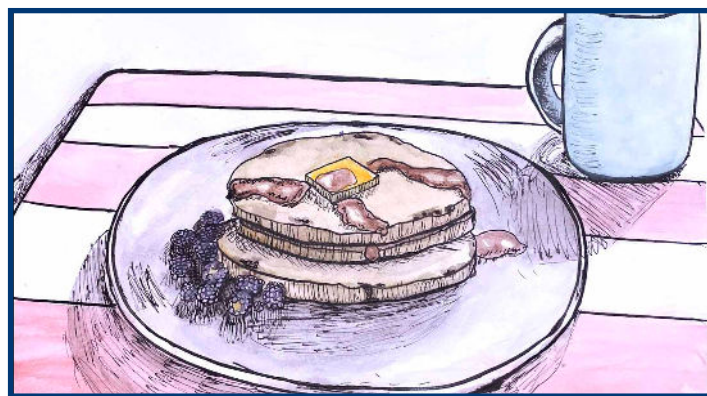

Middle and Upper School students were introduced to new techniques from paper cut designs in Studio I to observation drawing sketchbook work using dip pens in Studio II and working with Affinity Photo on their iPads in Photography classes. Through these projects students were able to apply personal ideas exploring a little more about themselves and the world around them, whether they were in the studio or distance learning from home.

AP Art students undertook the new portfolio expectation of creating a body of work that reflected a sustained investigation beginning with a question that guided their practice throughout the year as they created a 15 image portfolio. The results of their work were powerful, expressing not only their talent and creativity but social issues from COVID to politics that were ever present in their experiences this year.

We look forward to seeing students back in the studios this fall!

Performing Arts

Performing Arts looked different in the 2020-2021 school year. Covid-19 guidelines forced the Performing Arts to reimagine what their disciplines could/would look like and still be meaningful and educational.

Theater students had the opportunity to perform in several socially distanced and masked productions. The theater department produced four upper school one-acts, a middle school one act, and a musical. While most of our productions were recorded and streamed for audiences to watch in the comfort of their home, we were able to come together as a school community for two live performances of Forbidden Broadway's Greatest Hits at the end of April. The students the audience was just as grateful to have the opportunity to see HRA students perform. It also allowed us to honor our seniors, Jack Baust, Caroline Hager, Kait Morina, and Sarah Sasinowska for all the time, energy, and talent they shared with the theater department.

The strings were the least impacted given the nature of the instruments. They were able to maintain business as usual as Mr. Heifetz continued to conjure up inspiring and relevant programming that the students enjoy and thrive on. They too entered the world of streaming allowing guests to enjoy their concerts anywhere there was an internet signal.

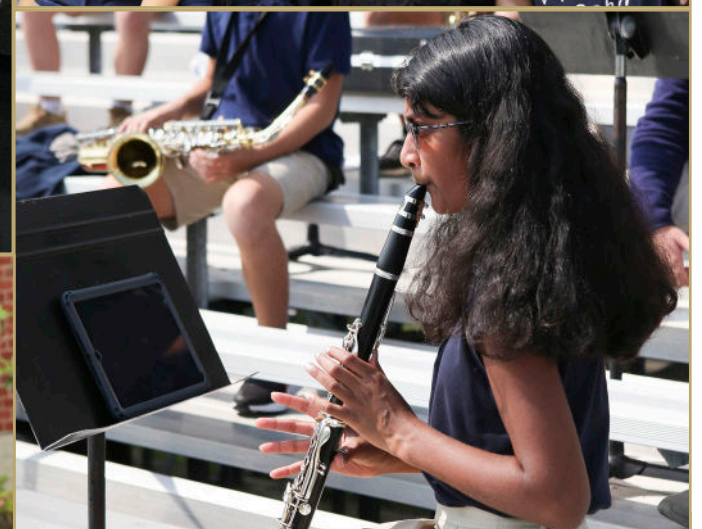

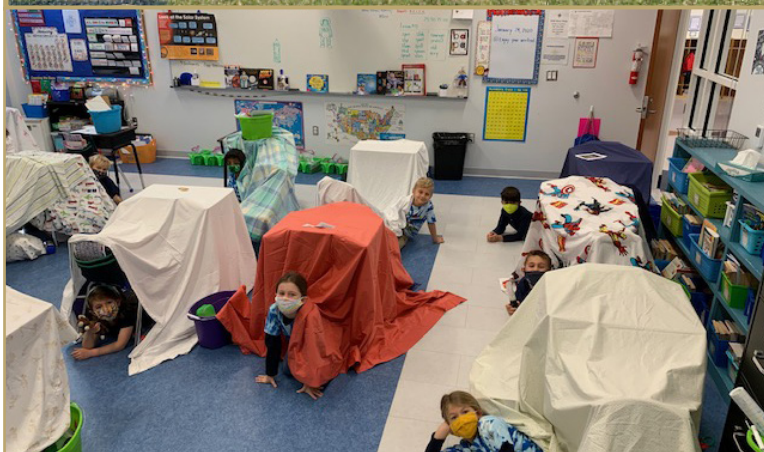

The chorus and lower school music groups were challenged as singing wasn't permitted much of the year. Theory, appreciation, rhythmic comprehension/mastery, history.

There's so much that goes into music besides what we see and hear. Music is quite literally a language and there's an ever-evolving theory and history of it that is hardly ever discussed in schools or in our culture in general.

Band entered the world of music production, recording, appreciation, and theory. They used digital recording applications and completely overhauled the HRA recording studio. The students learned how to build recordings in which they used click-tracks, layering one asynchronous performance upon another, resulting in a single cohesive performance, both visually and sonically. And most importantly, they dived into units of music appreciation learning to recognize the quality (literally and figuratively) of the music they listen to today and the music of our yesteryears.

It's a great time to be a Navigator!

The 2020-2021 school year proved the vitality of HRA's community, with Covid-19 challenging us in ways we could not have anticipated. We rose to meet the challenge as we always do, together. Success this year was a measure of our capacity and willingness to come together in mutual support through our love for our School. This was made possible by your spectacular support of the annual fund. The importance of unrestricted, immediate-use gifts cannot be overstated in our response to the pandemic, providing the means to meet each challenge as it surfaced, with agility and confidence. Your gifts gave HRA the financial flexibility to:

- Invest in our extraordinary faculty and staff – providing the resources and training to continue to offer the HRA experience to our students.
- Increase tuition assistance for families adversely affected by the pandemic.
- Invest in new technologies, equipment and supplies that allowed us to remain open and on-campus.

HRA is especially grateful for the overwhelmingly generous gifts from our families, alumni and friends. This, at a time when many must themselves have felt great uncertainty, is testament to our donors' compassion. You raised the highest total for annual giving in recent years, allowing the school to end the fiscal year without the deficit that our response to the pandemic could otherwise have brought about.

Rising to meet the challenges of the year emboldened us to try new initiatives. The heightened community spirit inspired us to launch our first ever "HRA Day – A Day of Giving and Gratitude." For 24 hours, we celebrated and gave thanks to our entire HRA community. By all measures, it was a great success, thanks to all our families and friends who came together in a magnificent show of support.

In other news, on April 20th family and friends of Mary Blalock gathered in the crisp, clear light of a gorgeous day to dedicate the advancement house to Mary's memory and share stories of her life. Mary was a member of the HRA family for 15 years, and as Director of Advancement was a steadfast and gracious advocate for the school and a friend to many. Her name lives on now in two spots on campus - on the Blalock House, home to the Advancement offices, and on the Vision Room, which is also dedicated to her memory by the Lennarz and Fass families.

And so our journey continues, as together we navigate the new year knowing that, with the help of you, our donors, what has gone before has made us stronger and better. There is much to celebrate.

HRA Holds its First Annual HRA Day

On Friday, April 23rd, Hampton Roads Academy kicked off its first ever "HRA Day – A Day of Giving and Gratitude." For 24 hours, the school gave thanks to the entire HRA community of students and their families, faculty and staff, alumni and friends. The community in turn shared on social media what they love about HRA: their favorite teachers, their fondest memories, how HRA has shaped their lives – in other words, what it means to be a Navigator.

For the "giving" part of HRA Day, a group of generous donors contributed $10,000 as a challenge to raise 200 additional donors - $50 per donor raised. When the sun rose on HRA Day, over 150 donors had already made a gift and we passed our goal by 10:30 a.m. A second, extended goal was also quickly met – and then a third. We ended the day with 382 donors, far surpassing all expectations.

A core group of 15 HRA Day Ambassadors, volunteers who signed up to promote the day on social media, reached out to their Navigator families and friends, raising over one third of all donors. We are grateful to them for their support which was pivotal to the success of the day. A series of hotly contested friendly competitions contributed to the fun and excitement of the day, with the following results:

- Top Ambassador: Class of 2022, Zoe Epstein, raising 23 donors. Special mention to Nancy Owen with 17.
- Team Leader: Athletics, with 49 donors, with the Faculty Team chasing them in second place.
- The 1970s Alumni Team led the alumni with the highest number of donors in the "Alumni Decade" event.
- The Lower School families made an extraordinary showing with the highest participation rate in the three school divisions.
- The Upper School SCA made a very generous gift and the Middle School SCA joined the fun with a creative Puzzle Pieces fundraiser.

We send a big thank you to all our Navigator friends who participated in what was a joyful and festive event, a true tonic for us all in the midst of a challenging and wearying time.

Faculty Appreciation

As a part of the HRA Day celebration, we recognized Faculty/Staff for their "years of service" milestones with HRA – 5, 10, 15, 20 and 25 years! We normally gather as a community to celebrate our faculty and staff; however, we were not able to assemble as a group - so we celebrated across the school by divisions. This year we combined the 2020 honorees with this year's honorees. What a testament to them and to HRA! The following people were recognized. Huge congratulations and thank you to them!

Article by Rachel M. Hennessy '13, Director of Alumni Relations / Events

Hampton Roads Academy is the one location and experience that all HRA alumni share, no matter what year you graduated. One of the main purposes of HRA is to prepare students for life, but what does life look like after graduation and beyond? What does an HRA Alumni look like? We caught up with some alumni who attribute some of their inspiration and success to HRA.

Ben Colburn '06

Ben Colburn, MD '06 learned early in life that if the opportunities you want don't exist, it's up to you to create them. As one of the first openly gay students enrolled at HRA in the early 2000s with limited resources available at that time, that meant founding one of Virginia's inaugural gay-straight alliances to create the support he wanted and exploring curricula for AP courses that HRA hadn't offered (yet). And in the fifteen years since he graduated, that drive has led him to a dream job in family medicine and community organizing through stories.

After leaving HRA, Ben went on to study medical anthropology at Brown University (Class of '10) then earn his MD at University of California-San Francisco (UCSF, Class of '17). This year, he finished a 4-year family medicine residency at Oregon Health & Sciences University (OHSU) in Portland, Oregon where he has learned to care for low-income patients from cradle to grave and support them through the struggles and triumphs in between. When Ben's patients share their stories of adversity in the exam room with him, his unique blend of training allows him to listen deeply and ask how he can support his patients in the same way others have helped support him. Every day, he comes home from work knowing he made a difference in someone's life and feeling energized to keep fighting for systemic change so his future patients have opportunities to tell different, more hopeful stories.

Everyone eventually has an important story to tell about their relationship to health and healthcare, but there are relatively few places to talk candidly about them. Fueled by his daily work with low-income patients and the healthcare workers who serve them, Ben created "The Intersitium", a public storytelling event that brings these groups together to learn from each other as peers and share their experiences with the communities they live in. Three to four times a year, the event rents out a public theater and hands the microphone to patients who rarely have a chance to tell their stories and several medical professionals who generally don't discuss their work outside of work. Throughout the evening, audience members get to witness their neighbors be more vulnerable than usual and also learn about community organizing efforts related to their stories. The goal of "The Intersitium" isn't to educate or shock listeners - it is to connect as humans in a way that is often not possible within a clinical environment and inspire them to become more civically engaged.

Ben credits the solid educational foundation he received at HRA, as well as his family, friends, and allies for teaching him that with enough hard work, creativity, and persistence, he truly can change the world: "Learning how to learn in a place like HRA is an incredible privilege you will probably not fully appreciate until you leave - push yourself to take advantage of every opportunity it offers you, big or small." His advice to fellow Navigators is to "assume you are capable of anything until you try and learn otherwise. The biggest reason most people miss out on opportunities in life is because they never found the courage to try."

In Fall 2021, Ben will be joining a large Pacific Northwest healthcare system that will allow him to continue working in primary care, urgent/emergency care, and hospital medicine. He also recently celebrated the one year wedding anniversary with his husband Tim and also of his mother Marnee's move west to them nearby in Portland. He plans to continue producing and growing "The Intersitium" for both public and academic consumption and eventually hopes his project can help spark conversations about health equity for all levels of learners.

To learn more about "The Intersitium" and learn how you can tune in virtually, visit their partner organization The Northwest Narrative Medicine Collaborative at <https://nwnmcollaborative.org/>. The next show happens on October 9, 2021 and tickets are available in mid-August.

Emily Goodson '03

Intuition, education, representation and accessibility. Those are some of the ideals that Emily Goodson '03 has carried through her personal and professional life.

At age 8, Emily suffered from a brain injury and was paralyzed on the entire left side of her body. She was able to recover, but had to re-learn how to speak and move. Learning how to type with one hand and how to walk with legs that are two different lengths was her new reality. As a child, she vividly remembers sitting in front of countless TVs and stages wondering when someone in a wheelchair or someone who walked differently, like herself, would win an Oscar, act on Broadway, or be President of the United States. This led her to recognize that there is a representation issue in the media we watch and as a result, the stories we tell ourselves. Whether it is overcoming race, disability, gender, or other barriers, there are stories of resilience, like hers and beyond that need to be elevated. It became her mission to give a greater power to those stories.

After her first corporate speaking engagement, she realized that there was a lack of education in workplaces and schools around experiences with disability based on the questions she was asked, assumptions that were made, and shocked faces she saw in the audience. She realized that as terrifying as conversations around disability are for her, they are often more terrifying for those who don't have first-hand experience or understanding. She hopes that by sharing her own experience, it might create an open dialogue and inspire others to have their own courageous conversations.

By way of her writing, corporate and community speaking engagements, and workplace advising, Emily is a leader in creating and scaling respectful workplace culture, with a specific focus on empowering more conversation around disability, accessibility and inclusion in communities. Through her business, CultureSmart, the goal is to create systemic change around how we treat each other in the workplace, as well as create more compassionate environments.

One of her favorite English teachers at HRA and someone she often recalls, Heather O'Toole, helped shape Emily's writing and perspective. Her current writing focus could be described as a "bildungsroman", or a 'coming of age' story, which she practiced writing often for that particular class. Emily also writes about the importance of following your own intuition. Her advice is to find a way you can stay connected with what you know to be true for you versus what others say you should do or be.

Emily lives in Santa Monica, California and is currently working with a team in Los Angeles to create a short "coming of age" film. To follow her journey of building greater awareness around disability from a people, marketing, and product perspective and to learn more about CultureSmart, visit www.workculturesmart.com.

Katie Oates Small '06

Discovering your passion and being motivated to pursue it can often be two separate goals. Sometimes, it just takes one person to come into your life as a mentor for those goals to be realized. For Katie Oates Small '06, that person is HRA Chorus teacher, Robin Steinberger. Robin's guidance and encouragement led Katie to become a professional performer and create her own opera company, Small Opera (SMOP).

At an early age, Katie had always been surrounded by music. Both of her parents sang in church and school choir, so harmonizing in the car and around the house was a very common, fun occurrence throughout her childhood. This parental support for her musicianship and singing was amplified when Mrs. Steinberger led her in chorus and musical theater at HRA.

Katie recalls fond memories of her roles in Once Upon a Mattress, Sound of Music, and Once on this Island as well as the adventures of singing at Kings Dominion, Special Regional and National Honor Choirs. She was so inspired that her senior thesis project was leading the Middle School Chorus. Robin had a profound impact on Katie, so much so that they still keep in contact.

After HRA, Katie earned her undergraduate degree in Vocal Performance from Florida State University, and followed it with a Masters in Opera Performance from Georgia State University. Her resume is extensive, having leading roles with Capitol City Opera Company, the Atlanta Opera Studio Tour, Peach State Opera and the Charlottesville Opera just to name a few. Not to mention some of her full operatic roles, including Charlotte (Werther), Dorabella (Così fan tutte), Rosina (Il barbiere di Siviglia), Jo (Little Women), Hermia (A Midsummer Night's Dream), Elizabeth Proctor (The Crucible), Pitti-Sing (The Mikado), Papagena (The Magic Flute) and Ruth (Pirates of Penzance). In 2016, Katie founded SMOP, which brings Nomadic Vocal Drama and pop-up opera to the greater Atlanta community! After relocating to Charleston, SC in 2017 with her husband, Ryan Small, Katie is happily expanding SMOP and it has been featured in the North Charleston Arts Fest, Piccolo Spoleto, and TEDxCharleston.

In addition to being the Founder & Executive Director of SMOP, Katie has a full-time corporate job emailing attorneys for sourcing opportunities and business development. Her goal is to continue to bring pop-up opera to the community and make the classic art form fun, fresh, and accessible to all. To watch past productions and learn more about Small Opera, visit smalopera.com. Follow Small Opera on social media to see what they're up to next.

Ronald Oakley '68

What does building upon a foundation look like? Both literally and academically? For Ronald Oakley '68, his successful Engineering and Construction (E&C) career owes itself to the curriculum and mentoring at HRA. He started out as an estimator and worked his way up to Chairman of the Board and it all began at HRA.

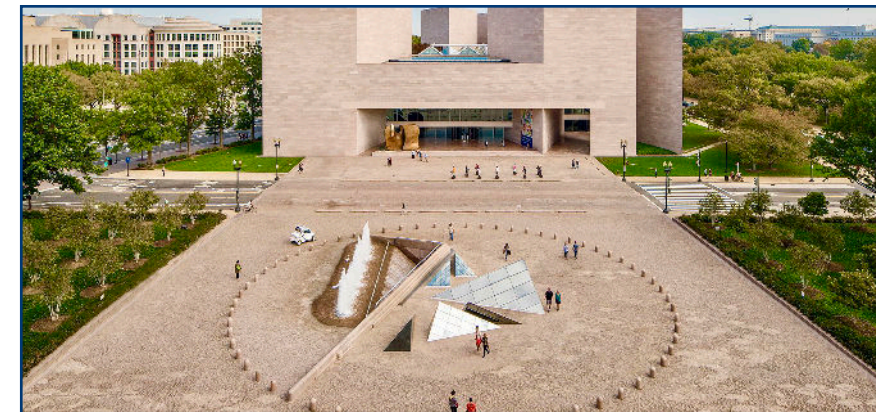

When he started at HRA in eighth grade, Ron admits that he wasn't paying much attention at the time, but the curriculum gave him the fundamentals in science, math, English, French and even sports, that would get him through Clemson University and a degree from the College of Architecture. Throughout his career, his teachers at HRA, such as Col. Dick for science, Mr. Layne for math, Mr. Spoor for English and Ms. Hatcher for French and Mr. Worthington instilled lessons that only grew after graduation.

After graduating with a BS in Building Construction (architecture and civil engineering), his first job was as an entry level estimator for a construction company in Washington, D.C. with one of his first estimates being the I.M. Pei designed East Wing of the National Gallery of Art. Shortly after they won the project, he was asked to be the site engineer, for which he was responsible for all of the architectural concrete, marble and all the specialty finishes. Next was working for The Architect of the Capitol in the construction of the Madison Memorial Library and other U.S. Capitol programs. Following that, he built custom homes and then entered the world of industrial and heavy construction, where he began to rise through the ranks. Just to name a few of the businesses that he completed projects for: Intel, GM, BMW, Mercedes Benz, Disney, Pfizer, The London Underground, Kansai Airport in Osaka Bay, Hyatt Hotels, Department of Energy and other unique clients/projects.

Ron worked his way from project support roles, to project manager, to leadership roles in sales, to operations and executive management at Fluor Corporation. After 24 years at Fluor, his final deal was securing a coalition rebuild proposal that reached Prime Minister Blair's Camp David meeting with President Bush (43) that ultimately led to some nice projects with their British partner. Following Fluor, he held President and CEO roles at three top 20 global E&C companies. He is currently Chairman of The Branch Group headquartered in Roanoke, VA. Ron also serves on the Board of Directors of two other E&C firms where he shares his experiences to help the next generation improve shareholder values.

The architecture, engineering and construction business has been so rewarding because he was able to take ideas, turn them into reality, and provide benefits on a global level. Throughout his journey, he applied the skills he learned at HRA, which led to personal and professional success. The science and math classes gave him the problem solving skills to understand engineering and business challenges; the English (composition) courses provided him the communication skills to write proposals that won a lot of work; taking "proper" French aided him years later during a particular negotiation with a French company; even his participation in sports at HRA helped him recognize how to be part of a team as well as what it took to be a good leader!

Ron says that he's had a blast in his journey in this fantastic business/profession and has included his family frequently in his travels internationally. He and his wife, Carole, have three children and four grandchildren that they are very proud of. He says "The engineering and construction business has been, and still is, a great source of pride for me - second only to my growing family."

Continuing to express through artist experiences, Asa Jackson '07, Hampton Boyer and Travis Sykes launched a walk-through exhibition in January at their headquarters, Contemporary Arts Network (CAN) in Newport News. "Black Spirituals" consists of a concept album, theatrical exhibition and movie. Each medium tells a cohesive coming of age story as four inner-city teenagers learn about the lingering effects of Black plight, such as enslavement and the struggle for civil rights. Ultimately, the main characters gain another level of consciousness and come to understand why the marginalized group should receive reparations. The theatrical exhibition has 14 scenes with art, music and live acting, and each set is based on the 16-song concept album. The album will be released Summer 2021 and the movie later this year. The exhibition includes artwork from artist, Mahari Chabwera '13 as well. In June 2021, Asa was named Chair of The Virginia Commission for the Arts. For more information on upcoming projects at the CAN, click here: <https://www.thecomtemoraryartsnetwork.com/>

Reunions

This year, reunions looked a little different as you can see below. We are very thankful for the use of technology to get through the tough times amid the pandemic. Going into this year we are excited to welcome alumni back to campus for Homecoming weekend! We hope you will make the most out of the opportunity to be together again!
